A #1 New York Times bestseller and the first novel in a brand-new series—from bestselling author Abbi Glines—about a small Southern town filled with cute boys in pickup trucks, Friday night football games, and crazy parties that stir up some major drama. To everyone who knows him, West Ashby has always been that guy: the cocky, popular, way-too-handsome-for-his-own-good football god who led Lawton High to the state championships. But while West may be Big Man on Campus on the outside, on the inside he's battling the grief that comes with watching his father slowly die of cancer. Two years ago, Maggie Carleton's life fell apart when her father murdered her mother. And after she told the police what happened, she stopped speaking and hasn't spoken since. Even the move to Lawton, Alabama, couldn't draw Maggie back out. So she stayed quiet, keeping her sorrow and her fractured heart hidden away. As West's pain becomes too much to handle, he knows he needs to talk to someone about his father—so in the dark shadows of a post-game party, he opens up to the one girl who he knows won't tell anyone else. West expected that talking about his dad would bring some relief, or at least a flood of emotions he couldn't control. But he never expected the quiet new girl to reply, to reveal a pain even deeper than his own—or for them to form a connection so strong that he couldn't ever let her go...

Hailed by the critics and lauded by readers for its riotously funny and scathing portrayal of America in an age of trial by media, materialism, and violence, Vernon God Little was an international sensation when it was first published in 2003 and awarded the prestigious Man Booker Prize. The memorable portrait of America is seen through the eyes of a wry, young, protagonist. Fifteen-year-old Vernon narrates the story with a cynical twang and a four-letter barb for each of his townsfolk, a medley of characters. With a plot involving a school shooting and death-row reality TV shows, Pierre's effortless prose and dialogue combine to form a novel of postmodern gamesmanship.

I never planned to fall in love. Least of all with a woman, you.But I did, and telling you was the hardest thing I ever did. I knew how you would reach first, but I never anticipated how hard it will be for me or how you reacted next.I had to write, for the first time ever, and now we face book number two.I wrote just to tell you how I feel, what I think. All the things I wanted to say to you but you didn't want to listen.So I wrote, and wrote, and wrote. Flood of thoughts, feelings, whatever came to my mind. Just to give me five minutes of strength to get out of bed. I wrote for me. I wrote for you. Most of them are here. My pain, my love, my longing, my hesitations, My certainty. I know you don't want to hear from me, don't want to read what I have to tell you. But I have to get them out of me, if not to you then just out there, to the world who doesn't know me.Maybe some day you will find your courage and return. Until then my love, You Still don't Know How Much I Love You.
